NEW FORMAT FOR 2011

The 2011 AEGON Masters Tennis has an exciting new format. There will be two player fields competing simultaneously throughout the week:

- A 'Legends' field consisting of four iconic legends of the game including John McEnroe.
- An ATP Champions Tour field consisting of six current stars of the ATP Champions Tour battling it out in a series of round-robin matches from Wednesday to Saturday, to win trophies made by Lasvit.
- Two thrilling Finals on Sunday. The midday session will see the Legends Final with the ATP Champions Tour Final starting at 5pm.

The afternoon sessions will feature three matches – Legends singles, ATP Champions Tour singles and an entertaining doubles exhibition match from the likes of crowd-favourite Mansour Bahrami.

- The evening sessions will feature two top-class matches – either a Legends or Champions singles and a doubles exhibition match.
- The two Sunday sessions will feature a Final plus a doubles exhibition.

Weds – Sat: Round-robin singles and doubles exhibition matches
Sunday afternoon: Legends Final and doubles exhibition match
Sunday evening: ATP Champions Tour Final and doubles exhibition match

“It’s such a unique venue with so much history where so many incredible artists have performed, and we are privileged to be able to play tennis here.”

Tim Henman
